

WFP Income Fund Announces a 6.73% Net Annualized Return through March 31, 2017

April 4, 2017, Los Angeles, California - The WFP Income Fund, managed by Wilshire Finance Partners, paid investors a 6.73% net annualized non-compounded return through March 31, 2017. The monthly net non-compounded return in March 2017 on a standalone basis was 0.55% or 6.42% annualized. The net annualized compounded return for the fund since its inception on September 23, 2013 through March 31, 2017 was 8.62%.

The WFP Income Fund is a short term alternative fixed income investment that seeks to protect the investor's principal while also providing attractive risk-adjusted returns primarily through investments in loans secured by first trust deeds and mortgages within the United States.

The return obtained by the fund was on an unlevered basis and was primarily the result of interest income received on the first trust deeds and mortgages in the fund's portfolio.

As of March 31, 2017, the portfolio had a weighted average loan-to-value of approximately 57.60% and a weighted average maturity of approximately 24 months. The fund had an average loan size of approximately $1,178,179, consisting of loans secured in first lien position against residential, office, retail, light industrial, warehouse and senior assisted living properties, predominantly in the State of California. Other states represented in the fund's loan portfolio at month end included Florida, Oregon, Nevada and Washington.

Through March 31, 2017 management identified one loan it has classified as special mention. A special mention loan has potential weaknesses that deserve management's close attention. If left uncorrected, these potential weaknesses may result in deterioration of the repayment prospects for the loan or in the fund's credit position at some future date. Special mention loans are not adversely classified and do not expose the fund sufficient risk to warrant adverse classification.

Loan repayments throughout 2016 continued to cause excess liquidity which persisted into 2017. At March 31, 2017, the fund held a cash position of 9.51% of total assets versus its target of approximately 2%. Excess liquidity continues to be the primary cause of the reduction in the fund's returns.

Since the fund's inception in September 2013 through March 31, 2017, the net asset value (NAV) of the WFP Income Fund remained stable and demonstrated no correlation to the stock markets or bond markets. Further, the NAV was not sensitive to changes in interest rates.

"The fund experienced an increase in closed loans in late March which contributed to a decrease in excess liquidity at month end," said Don Pelgrim, CEO of Wilshire Finance Partners. "However, as those loans closed late in the month, the fund did not receive the benefit of having them as earning assets for the full month. As a result, the fund's returns were down slightly as compared to February." He added, "In order to efficiently deploy the excess liquidity without commensurately greater risk, we have taken additional steps to increase the flow of loan requests we are considering and anticipate that approach will translate into more closed loans for the fund's portfolio over the next several quarters."
